Heinz

American Field Service Program

This year, we have been very fortunate in having as our classmates, two foreign exchange students. They have been Claude Meric from Toulouse, France, and Heinz Wolschke from West Berlin, Germany. It has been a wonderful experience for our class to have these two fine students. They have contributed much to our class in the way of knowledge about their countries and also in their participation in the class activities.

These two students were brought to our school through a program, which we have had in our school for the past few years. This program is the American Field Service, which was organized in 1914 and has grown to become very popular as an international program.

It had its beginning in Paris, when a group of men living there used their own cars to help drive the wounded from the battlefields. The work of these men became known as the American Field Service. During the war in 1939, the AFS was reactivated, carrying out its responsibilities as before. After the war, the scholarship program was founded, because the AFS veterans felt that it would be the most effective means of carrying on the AFS tradition of world understanding and service.

It is not the purpose of the AFS scholarship to turn the foreign student into an American. It is the purpose of the program to give the student a well-rounded knowledge of the many facets of our life here, and it is the hope of the AFS that the student will take back this knowledge with him to help increase understanding of the U. S. in his own country.

Under the AFS program is a sub-division known as the Americans Abroad. This gives American teenagers a chance to become acquainted with the life and people and education of another country. At the same time, countries abroad learn about the U. S. through these teenagers. The Americans Abroad is also divided into two branches, the Summer Program, whereby a number of American students spend their summer months in a foreign country, living with a family, and participating as a member of the family. Also there is a School Program, where students from the U. S. live with foreign families, and go to school for three or five months in a foreign country.

As can be seen, the AFS is truly an international program, and if everyone followed the motto of the AFS, which is: "walk together, talk together, O ye peoples of the earth; then and only then shall ye have peace," we would be able to create friendly relations with all nations.

Prophecy

It was the year 1966 and I was checking the passenger list for the plane. Among the names were those of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Waterman, she being the former Barbara Cook. They were going to Europe on a second honeymoon. Also on the plane was Sandy Colligan Whitford who was flying to New York to meet her husband Warren. When the passengers were all seated I stepped into the cockpit. Paul Green and co-pilot, Verna Napper, said all was in readiness for the takeoff.

Two hours later we were landing the passengers in New York City, and among them was Sharon Hovey who was flying to Switzerland for the international poker finals. With her were her two private nurses, Jeanne Carlson and Alberta Hunter. Just as we were ready to leave a news bulletin came through that Bill Cornell and Brian Wilson, brilliant scientists at Cape Canaveral, had successfully launched the first basketball to go into orbit.

Flying over Wisconsin we looked down on the 1,000 acre dairy farm owned by Cliff Comstock, Roger Fardak, Sam Gleason, and Roger Gleason. In California we passed over the speedway where Wayne Miller was now racing sports cars.

In France we had a stopover until the next afternoon, so I went to look up my old friend, Jean Rulifson, who was private tutor to the French Premier's children. She took me to lunch at a restaurant which was famous for its excellent cooking, done by Pat Haley. Also at the restaurant was Margie Wittman, a world known dill pickle taster. While walking back we passed a Swedish Massage, which, I discovered was run by Audrey Hunter and Donald Bennink.

That night I visited the Riviera at the invitation of Penny Waterman Wells, internationally known party giver, who was vacationing there and found also Joan Kilby, Dave Fisher, professional basketball player, and Bill Larson, the millionaire playboy, were also there on vacation.

Twenty-four hours later we came down on the landing strip of a famous Swiss resort owned and operated by Fred and Jeanne Wells Handle. My waitress at the resorts dining room was Mary Jo Hewitt, who was trying to earn enough money to fly home. Later, as I went out to do some skiing, I found both Claude Meric and Heinz Wolschke there as ski instructors. That evening I went down to the main room of the resort and to my surprise found three old classmates: Bill Wells, T.V. comedian; Patty Maritz, famous newspaper woman; and Sally Miller, historic expert on Scotland. Joining them I found they were talking about Lanny Holmes, who had just become owner-operator of the first air-gas station--a public re-fueling station in the sky.

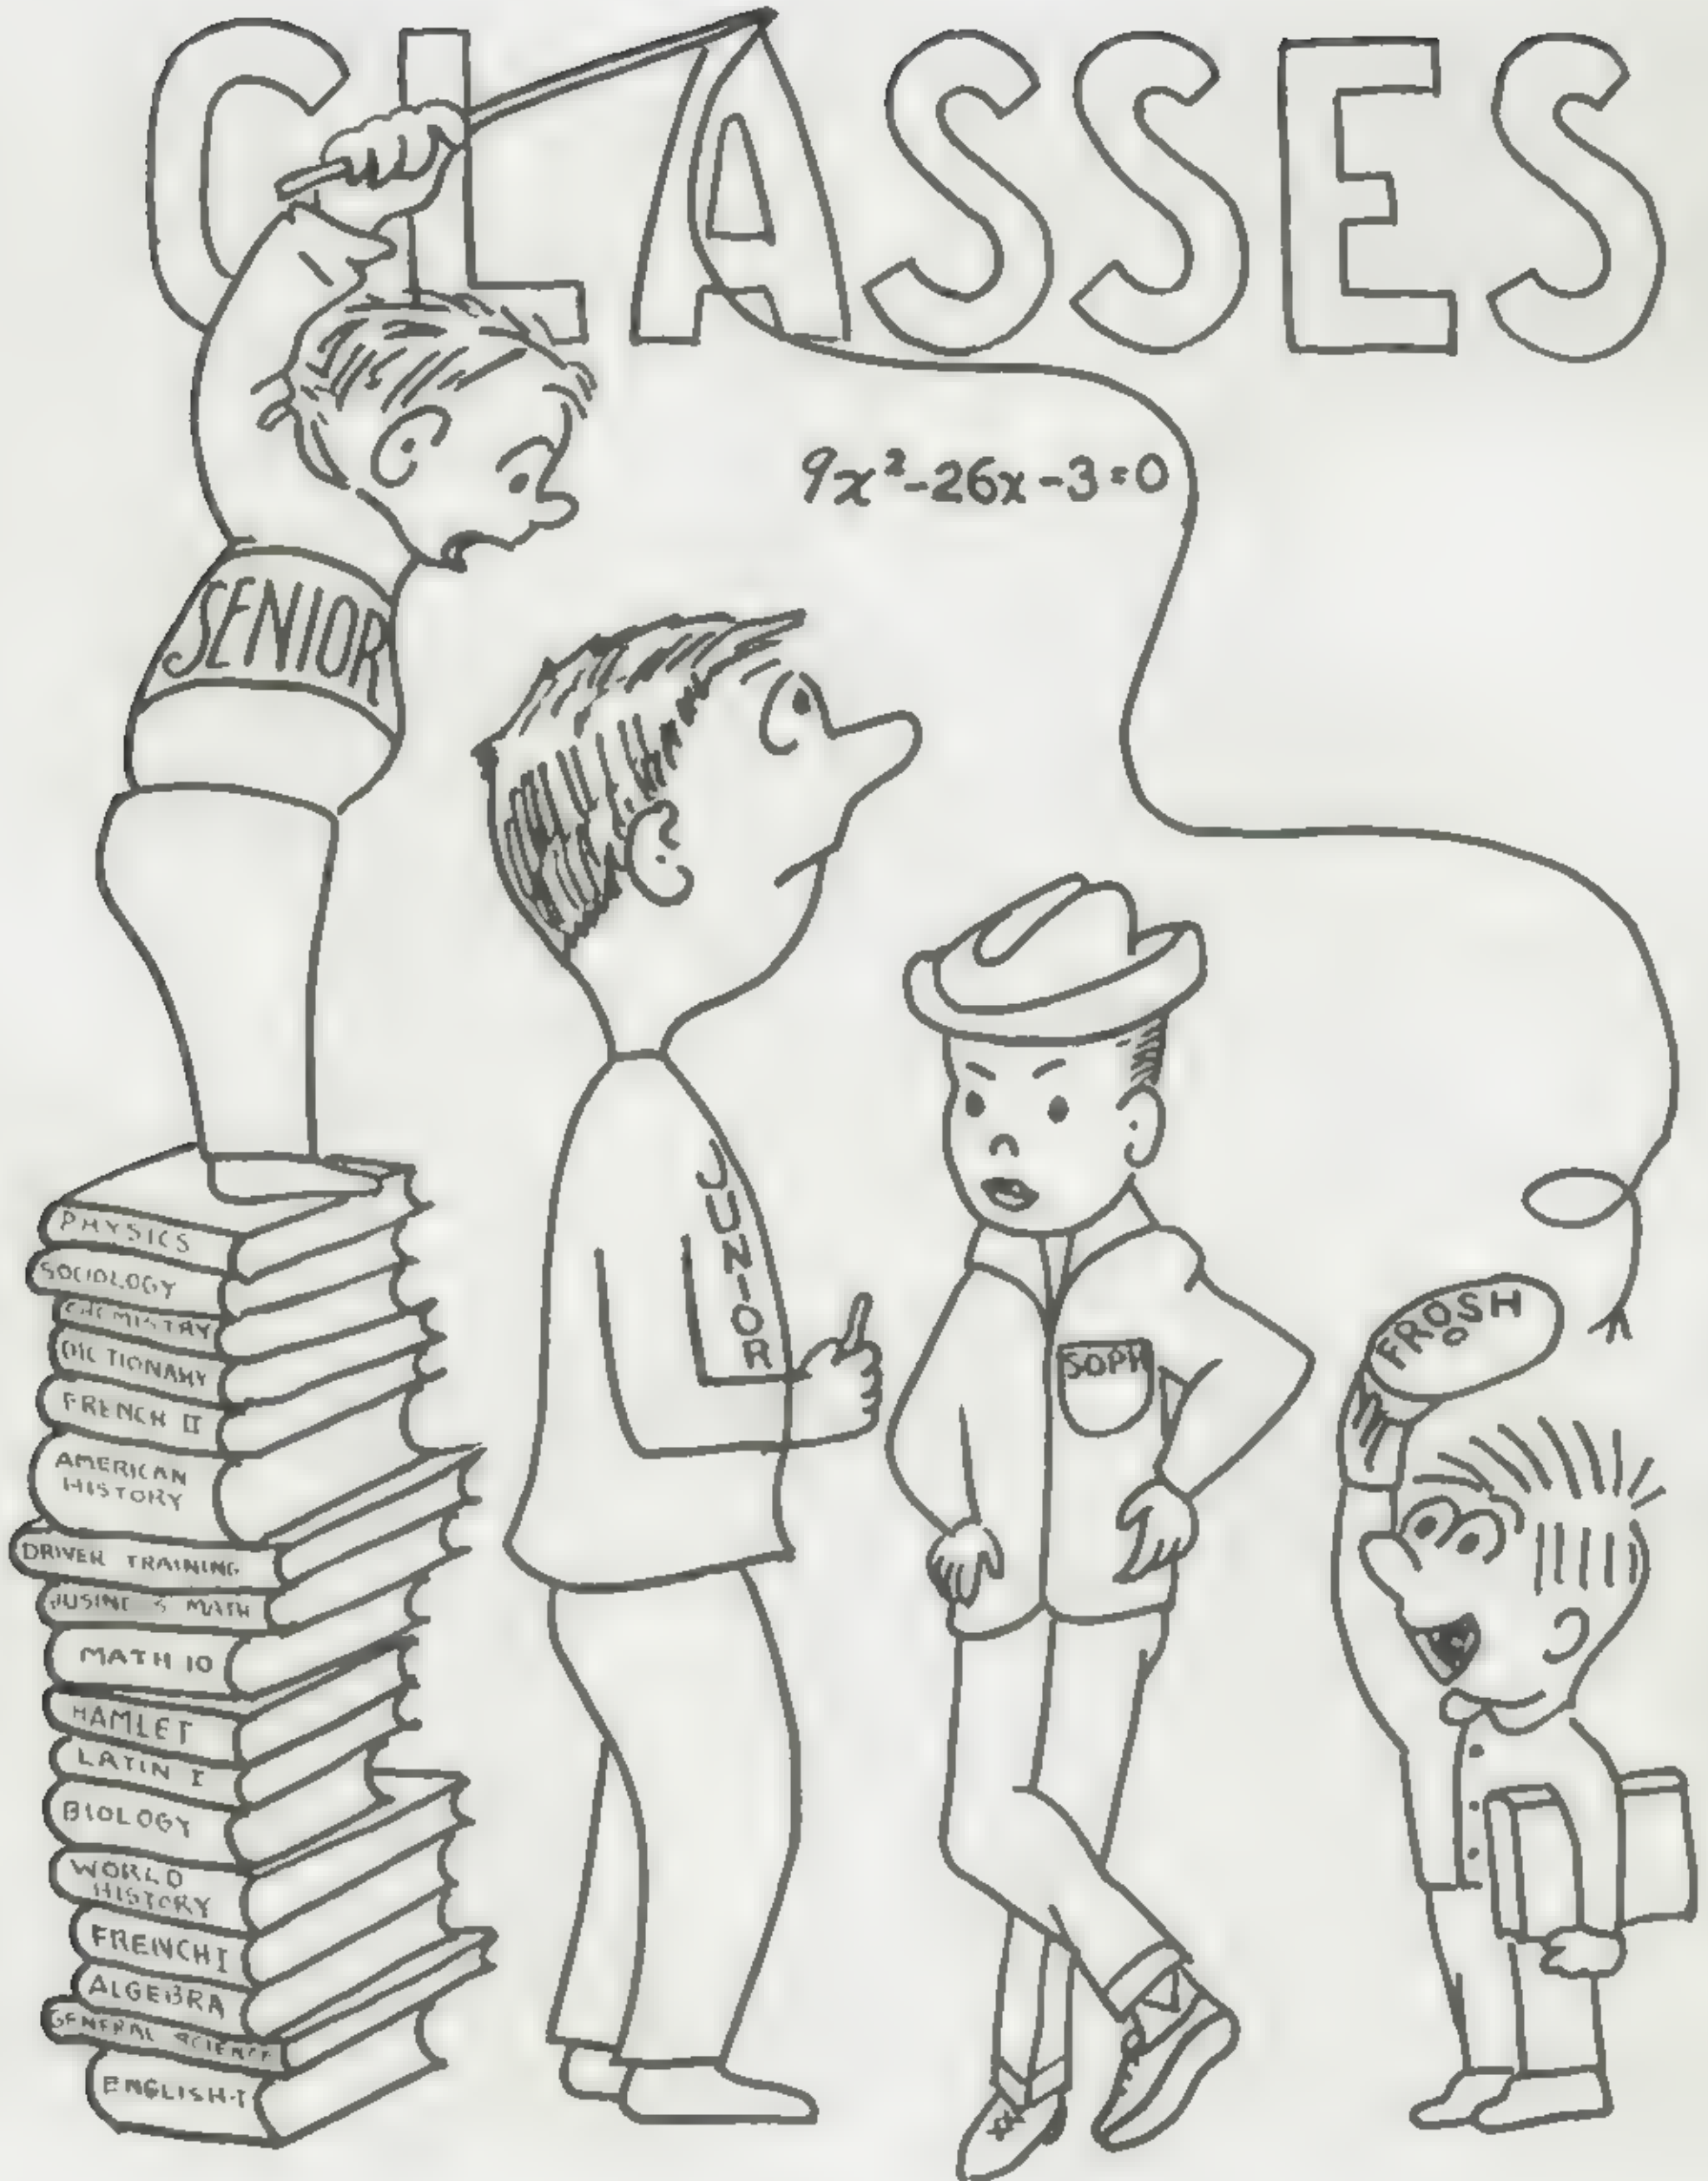

Thinking back, I realized that in this short trip I had met all of the class of '55 of Antauqua Central School, and I was proud to think that in their own way each one had made a worthwhile contribution to the world.

The Juniors

Well, it won't be long now. We will be saying good-bye to the Class of '59, and following in their footsteps as the Class of '60.

We cannot leave our junior year without remembering some of the most important things that have happened to us. Naturally, we were glad when we discovered that 203 was our homeroom for another year, and that Mr. Carlson was our homeroom teacher again. Probably the most never-to-be-forgotten day for us this year was the day our class rings arrived. Remember how we polished them so carefully? Of course, this soon wore off and we were all thoroughly engrossed in class meetings, passing subjects, writing notes, and all the other things that are an indispensable part of a normal school year. Another event of our junior year was a ham dinner in April.

Well, vacation isn't far off now and neither is our senior year. We will be glad when we are seniors, but we can never forget that wonderful year when we were the Junior Class of Chautauqua Central.

The Sophomores

As we progress in high school, new situations arise and we experience many new things. Everyday we find that it takes more work than it did yesterday in order to be successful in anything we attempt.

At our age, life is not all work, however, and we find plenty of time for recreation. Recalling the past year brings back many fond memories. There were exceptions though. Remember a couple of weird, mixed-up class meetings? Why even Mr. Morse and Mr. Rice thought they would have to throw in the towel. The meetings certainly took patience on their part and we would like to thank them for their counseling and guidance during the past year.

We are looking forward to our Junior year with great eagerness and interest.

The Freshmen

September brought forth a feeling of anticipation and eagerness as we looked forward to a fruitful first year of high school. Soon we felt native to the piles of homework, patient teachers and many activities.

Three cheers for Kenny James who miraculously led us through those awful class meetings. As we progressed through the year we held a Spaghetti Dinner as our first successful money-making project. Though circumstances prevented us from holding the Square Dance we had planned, we enjoyed going on a skating party and a trip.

Throughout our lives we will always remember the adventures of our Freshman year.

Student Council

Sharon Hovey was elected as president of the Student Council for this year, but due to her accident during the summer, David Fisher has been acting as our president. The other officers elected to guide us were: Robert Hagstrom, vice-president; Sharyn Anderson, secretary; Brian Willson, treasurer, and James Wittman, business manager.

The Student Council has been quite busy this year. One of the main projects of the year was the sponsoring of dances for the benefit of Sharon Hovey. The Student Council has also sold toothbrushes; made the P A announcements; and taken charge of the Student Council store.

The Student Council established two awards this year. One for the Student of the Year, the other award for all seniors who have been on the high honor roll for four years.

The Student Council this year also had three nominations for the District Student Council Association. Those nominated were; Robert Hagstrom for president; Sharyn Anderson for secretary; and Kay Frahm for treasurer.

All in all the Student Council has had a very busy and successful year with the aid of our adviser, Mr. Carlson.

The Chautauqua Indians got off to a blazing start in 1959 by winning their first five games. They won the opening game with Mayville, 47-40, after leading at the half 29-14. They then proceeded to beat Frewsburg, Ripley, Clymer, and Sherman before succumbing to Panama and Bemus. Chautauqua made these last two games very close for three quarters, but fell to defeat under terrific last quarter drives by both Panama and Bemus.

Starting the second round with the teams, Chautauqua played disappointingly and lost to Mayville by a 51-40 score. After that they won three straight games beating Frewsburg, Clymer, and Ripley; having to fight hard in the last quarters to beat these three spirited teams. They then lost to Sherman in a one point earbreaker and were clobbered by Panama. To finish the season off in good form Chautauqua beat league leading Bemus, sporting a 12-1 record, by a good margin of 64-37. Chautauqua was ahead throughout the whole game and it was considered a complete team effort and the best game Chautauqua played all year.

The starting line-up at the beginning of the season consisted of Tom Judson, Lanny Holmes, Brian Willson, Bill Cornell, and Dave Fisher. An unfortunate development happened when Dave Fisher broke his arm right after the second Mayville game. Bill Larson proved to be a very capable reserve and played very well in his place. Ken Aldrich, Herman Johnson, Phil DeMambro, and Roger Gleason provided added bench strength. Jim Wittman was moved up to the varsity near the end of the season. In the sectional playoffs, the Indians were defeated by Forestville and thus closed the season with a 9-6 record.
